LOUISIANA'S HOTHOUSE OF IMMORALITY

has the evil distinction of supporting the largest vice district of any city in the United States. New Orleans is one of the few American cities where prostitution is legalized by city ordinance, and it is the only city in the republic that has an annual directory of prostitution. This vice directory is known as the Blue Book.

In mentioning this appalling exhibition of moral depravity the commissioner says: The Blue Book is said to be published by a member of the state legislature, at whose saloon I purchased several copies and was told that a new edition would appear about Christmas.

Some idea of the extent of this moral, mental, and physical, death-dealing contagion may be gained from the fact that if these houses of evil fame were stretched on a single street they would have a frontage of about five miles—five miles of houses where every day and night of the year the seeds of physical, moral, and mental degeneracy are being sown under the legal sanction of the city where for centuries the Roman Catholic church has dominated in a religious way.

In view of the conditions existing in New Orleans we venture, even at the risk of being considered very presumptuous, to ask if it might not be in order for Archbishop Blenk of the New Orleans diocese to summon a conference of the priesthood to consider the evil conditions with a view to correcting them?

There are in the arch-diocese of New Orleans, 315 priests, 2600 Roman Catholic churches, 90 parochial schools for white children and 30 schools for the colored children. New Orleans is the great populous center of this diocese, a city which is naturally drawing a great number of the youths from the outlying districts.

Surely if there was ever a missionary field for moral workers, that field is Louisiana, and again at the risk of being regarded as impertinent, we would suggest that it might be more profitable for a convocation of the clergy of the diocese to meet in earnest council for the purpose of ridding this most Catholic center of its shame than for cardinals, archbishops, and laymen to make New Orleans a center for plotting against the liberal aspirations of the Mexican people. And is it not possible that if an earnest, sincere effort should be made along these lines for social purity and common decency by the church, which, from the foundation of New Orleans has been the dominant religious organization, great good would result even though it might be found necessary to strike the remaining liquor advertisements from the Morning Star, the official organ of Archbishop Blenk's diocese?

Happily, this would not represent so great a financial loss to this official Roman Catholic organ as it would have done before THE MENACE exposed the fact that the paper in question was flaunting liquor advertisements in a most lavish manner. Since the hierarchy, however, through its long centuries of dominance in New Orleans has done so little to check vice and immorality, it may be expecting too much to imagine that even an active and conciliatory work on the part of the archbishop and his army of priests would do much to lift the shame from Louisiana, and since the work is so important to the welfare of city, state, and nation, we would urge Protestants and especially the awakened patriots in Louisiana to join in a great active campaign to remove the stigma of disgrace from this ancient stronghold of Roman Catholicism by inaugurating a statewide campaign for the cleansing of the Queen City of the South and removing from one of the great cities of the republic the stigma of having the largest vice area of any populous center in the United States.

A communication from the special correspondent of the New York World, at Rome, under date of Aug. 17, says: "It is indicated by Dr. Hoerber, a German Catholic, that the pope probably will formally request the European Powers for a small temporal state." Possibly he might desire to accept the United States of America, which, though possibly larger than anticipated, could be better spared by the European Powers than a slice of their own territory.

Does popery pay? It certainly pays its aristocratic stockholders. Miss Eliza Jenkins, of Baltimore, has just left a million dollars to papal financiers while Miss Jessie Gillender of New York turned over a like large sum to various branches of the papal system. Mrs. Barbara Greenwald has in recent months given a property valued at a quarter of a million to Roman Catholic "charity." The estate of the late Michael Caplis yields the diocese of Detroit three hundred thousand dollars. A Roman agent of the pope gets a hundred thousand from one Mrs. Flaherty of Atlantic City, while other millions are received from other bequests of various magnitude from cash dividends as well as privilege to the privileged too numerous to mention.

Patriots of Portland Unite and Win!

Since Mr. Lafferty boldly aligned himself in favor of the Lindbergh Resolution for the investigation of political Romanism, and challenged his opponent to come out in the open and express his position in regard to this great live issue, EVERY POSSIBLE ATTEMPT HAS BEEN MADE TO PREVENT A SOLID PATRIOTIC VOTE BEING CAST FOR THE FIRST CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE WHO BOLDLY DECLARED IN FAVOR OF THESE RESOLUTIONS. It was declared that Mr. Lafferty and his family were Catholics, that he had a Catholic secretary, and numerous similar absolutely false reports were industriously circulated to weaken the candidacy of the CNE MAN THAT ROME MOST DESIRED TO SEE DEFEATED.

The secret of the success of the "Roman Catholic political machine" has been its power to CONTROL THE SOLID ROMAN VOTE, and its success IN DIVIDING THE PATRIOTIC VOTE.

The secret of the patriots' victories last May and June in Portland lay in their union at the polls. THEY MERELY DISPLAYED THE WISDOM WHICH ROME HAS DISPLAYED FOR MANY YEARS, and imitated Rome, polling a solid vote for the friends of fundamental democracy.

Important as was that union, it sinks into significance in comparison with the present contest. Let Portland give to congress a man who will stand up as bravely for our fundamental democracy and free institutions as Gallivan, Fitzgerald and O'Gorman have stood for the papal system, and she will hold an enviable place in the history of the mighty conflict for the restoration and preservation of liberal democracy from the mighty forces of the sovereign on the Tiber in Rome's present effort to substitute the monarchical papal system for the fundamental democracy of our constitution.

Patriots of Portland, sink all party and personal prejudices. IMITATE ROMAN TACTICS BY VOTING AS A UNIT FOR THE MAN ROME MOST WISHES TO SEE DEFEATED. Do not allow the subtle Jesuit influences to cause you to falter in a great crisis like the present.

No person can read the above books without becoming convinced of the urgency for action. The book by Crowley contains more than 700 pages, is cloth bound and elegant in every detail. This is the book wherein Crowley offers $10.00 if a single statement can be proven false. The rest of course are paper-bound, one contains 200 pages, another 62 pages and the remainder 32 pages each, making a total of more than 1100 pages of vital information for only $1.50. To see and read these books is the only way you can really appreciate the offer. If you have one or two copies of the books offered, order the combination complete and lend them, thus you will become a patriotic missionary. Order the "Hurry-Up Combination" seven great books for $1.50, postage prepaid, THE MENACE, Aurora, Mo.

A New Move

A sharp trick is being tried by the Romanists in Kansas. Upon the authority of the Catholic Citizen of Sept. 30, 1916, we learn that, "A writ of mandamus to compel the school board of Lawrence, Kan., to admit Catholic students to the public high school on certificates from the parochial school, without special examination, was filed in the Kansas state supreme court last week."

There are reasons for this resort to the courts. One is, that parochial graduates, no matter how deficient or misinformed (especially in history), may get into the high schools without the rigid examinations required of the public school students. In other words, to uphold their pet school system, they go to the courts to get special favors. Their principal object, however, is to drive a wedge into the public school system. If they win in their attempt to compel the admission of their pupils into the high schools without examination, it will be in effect a ruling that their parochial schools are as efficient as the public schools, are of the same standing, and that the public school system must agree with rules, regulations and examinations dictated by the church. If the courts admit this, they have grounds for their claims to a division of the public school funds; for, if their schools are legally of the same standing, they are entitled to the same support.

As neither the courts nor legislature can recognize class or sectarian distinctions, this would open the way for all kinds of claims upon the school funds. Then we would have denominational schools supported by public taxation in stead of the present public school system, which is precisely the object the Catholic church has in view.

Rome seeks a precedent on which to base future activities. Such activities can be headed off by leaving all papal and pro-papal candidates for the judiciary and legislature at home. Be careful who you vote for.

Capping the Climax

Listen friends, time is flying, and, if we are not careful the time for effective work will have passed. Few things have contributed more to the success of the anti-papal movement than our array of anti-papal literature and we are going to offer you right here another very big proposition it is within our power to make in the hope that you will recognize the importance of ordering a supply at once and begin not only reading them but lending them to your unwelcome friends. This offer gives you $2.50 worth of books for only $1.50.

We are heading the list with two of our very best books—"The Gravity of Charges and Undeniable Evidence" are to be considered. Crowley's indictment of the papacy, in particular, Price $1.50. This harrowing exposure of Rome and her wicked measures, portrayed in "State Document 190" is another powerful book. Price 50c. As to pamphlets in this offer, five better cannot be found than these: "Hidden Hand of Popery in World Politics," "Story of The Menace Trial," "The Roman Church," "The Church of Rome in American Politics," "Priestly Calvary Exposed."

The little books above named will prove a great source of information and are the greatest campaign workers we have as yet published. If you will order this combination and

A RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of alcohol. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up for you and mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp. It is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

ON THE SQUARE

Why do the officers and custodians of the Missouri Masonic Home at St. Louis keep an Irish Catholic woman in the home to handle the laundry, mail and other matter destined to members of the institution when there are wives, widows, sisters and daughters of Master Masons who need the work? Why? Does Archbishop Glennon know?

The patriots of Memphis are preparing for the usual demonstration on Oct. 12, the day that Columbus didn't discover America but which is utilized by Knights of Columbus for the advertising of popery. Memphis subjects of the pope declare that they are going to have this date declared a legal holiday by the legislature of Tennessee. What will the American citizens of Tennessee be doing while that is going on?

Irish papists in Ireland, French papists in Canada, and Teutonic papists in Bavaria and Bohemia will continue their annoyance of the British and German governments long after the present war is ended and national differences adjusted. Jesuit influence is the greatest of trouble-makers within as well as between nations.

The Catholic Citizen hopes the paper famine may do good by cutting down or cutting out the Sunday newspaper. We can see the point if it's first of all eliminates Father Noll's Sunday Visitor.

Following the Black Prophet, Guy Fitch-Hoppe will contribute to THE MENACE a new story entitled, THE MOAN OF THE TIBER, a powerful present-day expose of the H. O. G. S. or Roman Laundry Slave Penn. Do not miss this wonderful story which is as full of human interest as it is a startling exposure of those insidious so-called Homes of Good Shepherd.

Papistic Piffle

The following gem, from the front-page paragraph of the pope's Brooklyn Tablet, is a typical example of the means used by papist publishers to impress the impaisible with the fictitious importance of their pope. Hear ye:

Sooner or later it will be up to some of the European powers to address a note to the Supreme Pontiff saying: "Holy Father, we can never end this ruinous war by conquest or destruction of the other powers. In order to avoid absolute ruin we want to lay our cause in your hands. Trusting that our enemies will do the same, all of us to abide by your august decision." What a relief to the world if this were done. Honor and glory have been won by all. National pride should now step aside. The pope can stop the war if Europe says the word.

The pope is a person of tremendous consequence! He can stop the war—if. But who couldn't stop the war, if—? If Europe says the word, what more is needed? When Europe says "peace" there will be peace whether the pope is consulted or excluded. The homiletic Hottentot of heathendom can stop the war if Europe says the word. If that undeniable fact hasn't been already mentioned it is because the modest heathen is not much of an advertiser while the pompous pope is an adept in that most profitable art.

The Tablet's paragraph perpetrator is about as poor a prophet as his pope is a peacemaker. Let us revise his prophecy to conform with probability. Sooner or later it will be up to some of the European powers, if not all of them, to address a note to the Supreme Pretender saying:

"Mr. Pope: We, the people of Europe, are in the midst of an experience that makes people think who never before indulged in the habit. This new habit has been blasted into us by high-power explosives, which, at the same time, have blown much nonsense out of our heads. Half of crazy Europe has died to make the remaining half sane. We have gone through the madhouse of war, and some of us have been restored to reason. In proof of this self-complimentary assertion, we have decided to dispense with your services for all time to come.

We, ourselves, have stopped this war which your predecessor's dabbling in Serbian politics started. In order to avoid the recurrence of the ruin from which we are about to free ourselves, we purpose to take into our own hands and retain the administration of our affairs in every particular. Our recent enemies are of like opinion and determination. Europe has passed from two sets of warring allies to a unified amalgamation of neighbors without need of pope, cardinals, or curia.

"You are therefore discharged, Mr. Pope without prejudice and without penalty of banishment such as Europe has heretofore imposed upon its international troublemakers. Moved by generosity, we have decided that you may escape deportation to St. Helena, and that you are free to earn your living by whatever honest method you may choose.

"Honor and glory is hereafter for those who fight and labor for the common good. National pride is wiped out in the waste of war, and papal pride must go with it.

"This, the first encyclical letter of Europe's people to the vatican throne, is also the last. Hereafter his holiness the Pope Benedict XV will be known as James Chiesa and be expected to obey the laws of Europe instead of trying to make them. It is earnestly desired that you may wisely get out without being forcibly ejected, for we are tired of strife and yearn for the peace that will follow your permanent reduction to the ranks of the people."

Who Is Insulted?

Roman Catholic preachers and publishers do not hesitate to declare that the public schools are Godless sinks of moral depravity and incubators of irreligion.

Romanist publicists scruple not to voice their contempt for all religions other than their own. One of them, who both wrote and sermonized, refers to Protestantism as a "murderous bag serving only as a cloak under which to practice deadly sin."

The present pope has but recently referred to the Protestants in the city of Rome in language as insulting as that of the Billingsgate fishwives.

Cardinal O'Connell's organ has referred within the past month to the Protestant missionaries in attendance at the Panama Congress as liars and defamers of womanhood.

The papist press is a unit in declaring that free speech and a free press are but the refuge of demagogues and fools of morality.

Every spokesman of the papal system, who attempts to talk on the subject of education, declares that free non-sectarian education is a curse, and that its supporters are cultivators of paganism.

All Rome, lay and clerical, makes mob war on lecturers who oppose sectarian use of public funds, or offer the least serious criticism of the papal system.

Sympathizers with Mexican aspirants to free popular government are denounced by every agent of popery as enemies of religion and abettors of anarchy.

Nor are these pleaders for popery the least bit choicer in the epithets they apply to all or any who in any way oppose their peculiar purposes.

And yet, they never cease the cry that they are insulted because the best people on earth have the courage to call their bluff and question their professions.

Verily, some people are easily insulted, and some seem immune to it no matter what may be said or done.

"Cardinal defines the Meaning of Law and Liberty" is a headline in a papistic contemporary. Fortunately both law and liberty were defined and the definition assimilated some centuries before the cardinal arrived.
